"DEADLINE U.S.A" (Orna, Jiem) has a striking resemblance to Edward G. Rohinson's "Unholy Partners." "The Day," a newspaper, published for 41 years, is sold and the editor (Humphrey Begart) with his staff of 1,500, have to face the fact that the last copy will be published tomorrow. The rowing editor fights back to smash the Vice Syndicate. A fough gang is involved and the witness is killed by fake cops. The editor is supported by the widow of the publisher (Ethel Barrymore). I can't imagine a more gripping and thrilling story with an authentic newspaper atmosphere. Humphrey Begart turns out the most sympathetic performance of his career. FRANGO

The first miracle occurs when oil-wells are discovered in the camp. Later, with the help of a camp. Later, with the help of a miraculous dove, the private army of the capitalist who wants to occupy the now precious camp is defeated — in fights which would grace a Chaplin film. After a final battle with the scavengers at Milan's Doma Equare our friends ride to heaven on broomsticks. It's the true apotheosis of a fairy tale.

The film gives an illuminating synthesis of various trends in the history of film-making and a delightful kniedoscope of humanity. The most ingenious and most ridiculous pictorial device appeared to be that strange counterpoint which emerges from the fact that while fantastic miracles occur in the camp, the mearby traffic of Milan incoming and outgoing express trains in maintained.

"Al Hamishmar" (Mapam) in an editorial entitled "Non-Confidence" says that it has more than once explained the background of the 'Tatal development' which led towards the break of relations with the Soviet Union: the intensification of the cold war and the tragic fact that the majority of the Jewish people is yet living in the Diaspora. However, says the paper, the Government's re tions of access and traffic have been of avail even at a time when the British were stationed in this area, and one can easily predict how the Egyptians will behave once this becomes an Egyptian ware mostrum. The paper demands that Israel foreign policy should take all the necessary steps to safeguard our fact that the majority of the Jewish people is yet living in the Diaspora. However, says the paper, the Government's reinterests in the Middle East

Addressing the Council of States, he turned down suggestions for a third bloc or third force — terms which he said frightened people off — but urgud formation of a "third area" of those who did not want to align themselves with either of the giant power blocs.

Earlier today, Mr. Aneurin Bevan, B r i t l s h left-wing leader, told members of Parliament here that the emergence of a third block was necessary to compel the "two giants" to listen to weaker nations who were speaking the "most sense" at present.

The Soviet Union today suffered from rigidity and the U.S. from instability, he said. Both were hag-ridden by fear, "and since both are powerful both think they can afford to dispense with wisdom, because it is only the weak that need wisdom."

The resolution piedged the cooperation of world Jewry in effecting the mass transfer of Russian Jewry to Israel.

"If the rulers of Soviet Russia persist in exposing their Jewish citizens to humiliation, degradation and vilification; if they regard them as expendable members of their regimented society, let them lift the bars and open the gates so that their victims may find liberty and security elsewhere.

"Regarding ourselves as our brothers' keepers, we demand they let our people go."

Mr. Berl Locker, Chairman of the Jewish Agency Executive, warned that the Boviet campaign "provides no alternative, leaves no exit and permits no escape." He pointed out that from its inception, the Soviet Union had granted "rights to individual Jews, only at the expense of group survival. The latest dictum from the Kremlin is that the Jew must vanish."

Dr. Israel Goldstein, President of the American Lauted

NEW YORK, Tuesday. — The large non-Zionist bodies, the American Jewish Committee, the Brai Brith and the National Council of Jewish Women, refused to join the 31 organizations aponsoring the meeting in protest against the recent Soviet anti-Jewish actions.

Although arrangements had been made for loudspeakers for an expected overflow audience, the hall, holding some 2,000 persons was not filled.

More useful than mass meetings is perhaps the suggestion in this morning's "Herald Tribuse" that a special mission he sent to Marshall Stalin to present the protest of the free world. The paper suggests that Mrs. Eleanor Rosswell and Mrs. Paul. Hoffman constitute the mission. Its purpose should be restricted to the problem of arti-Samitism and saving, if possible, in victims.

Meanwhile, the U.N. and the U.S. should "focus world attantion solemnly and dramatically and provide the leadership in this great eaus," the paper said.

someness raises once again fixed place in society like other question of capital punish-in Israel is also hardly re-three to five times as many the question of capital punishment in Israel is also hardly relevant. Such crimes are usually committed by the degenerate or the insane and the mental illness of the perpetrator does not allow the deterrent of capital punishment to work. It is doubtful, indeed, if the extreme penalty serves as a deterrent to presumably sane murderers, who calculate their chances beforehand and who take the risk in the belief that they will escape detection. Statistics from countries which have abolished the death penalty show, if anything, a slight diminution in the murder rate and it can well be argued that the spectacle of the State solemnly taking life, albeit with aff the panoply of law, serves to diminish the value of life in the ages of the public.

In March, 1051, corresponding figures were II.1382 membership fens and II.1290 extra. By now the "extra" may have shrunk further, because the money shortage probably persuades many to queue for the free services of an institutional physician in order to save the fees of a private doctor.

A thousand wage earners' families were then polled, composed of an average 1.8 members, and all sections of the population were included, from new immigrants living in Ramile and Lydds to veteran townspeople.
